Program Book Description: Research suggests that given the amount of time students spend there, schools are a logical partner in supporting access to and provision of youth mental health supports (Hoover & Bostic, 2021). In rural settings, school-based mental health programs are especially important, providing mental health care in geographic areas with barriers to care (Siceloff et al., 2017; Hoover & Mayworm, 2017). However, stigma associated with mental health needs can be a significant barrier to school mental health

Presentation Type: Conference Session (60 minutes)

Track: School Climate and Universal Mental Health Promotion (Tier 1), , , , , Cultural Responsiveness & Equity, ,

Program Book Description: Bullying prevention efforts at the middle and high school levels have not been effective. In large part, this is due to a failure to consider how larger social power imbalances drive identity-based bullying behavior. This is critical as bullying disproportionately impacts youth who are marginalized due to intersecting social systems of oppression. We will present a set of free adaptable tools for middle and high school educators designed to prevent and address identity-based bullying.

Presentation Type: Conference Session (60 minutes)

Track: School Climate and Universal Mental Health Promotion (Tier 1), , , Education-Mental Health Integration & Collaboration, , ,

Program Book Description: In recent years, there has been an increased emphasis on student mental health but the well-being of educators remains overlooked. When educators report low levels of job-related well-being, they are more likely to leave the profession or face difficulty supporting students. MTSS is a promising practice to support the needs of educational staff. In this session, a case study of an MTSS approach to organizational well-being at an education cooperative in the rural Midwest will be presented.

Presentation Type: Conference Session (60 minutes)

Track: , , Mental Health Intervention and Treatment (Tier 3), Implementation Science and Practice, , , ,

Program Book Description: This presentation explores the need for intensive SEL interventions for students with emotional and behavioral disorders (EBD). We surveyed 66 special education teachers to examine current SEL practices, teacher perceptions, and the support needed for effective SEL instruction. Findings highlight the reliance on informal strategies over structured, evidence-based methods. We propose a comprehensive model integrating SEL and mental health services to address the unique needs of students with EBD.

Presentation Type: Conference Session (60 minutes)

Track: , , Mental Health Intervention and Treatment (Tier 3), Implementation Science and Practice, , , ,

Program Book Description: This presentation describes a model of rural school mental health studied in a rural North Carolina school district. In rural areas, youth mental health (MH) needs exceed national averages and are hindered by numerous barriers to access, including service availability due provider shortages, and diminished acceptability of services as a result of stigma and mistrust. Our model addresses these barriers through creation of an MTSS structure, strong Tier 3 crisis services, and local partnerships.
