

Using a Cultural Contextual Lens for Understanding Black Youth Depression

“Using a Cultural Contextual Lens For Understanding Black Youth Depression” is an interactive presentation which will provide a cultural contextual lens for understanding Black Youth depression. This cultural contextual lens will focus on assessment, prevention, and intervention considerations for Black Youth depression. In light of the increasing rates of Black Youth suicide, the presentation will also include information on suicide prevention within a cultural context.

Presentation Objectives

- Analyze the cultural contextual lens for assessing depression for Black youth
- Discuss culturally grounded treatments for Black youth experiencing depression
- Identify the risk factors and warning signs for suicide as well as culturally grounded suicide prevention

Presenter: Dr. Kimani Norrington-Sands

EVENT DETAILS

JANUARY 24, 2025

1:00 - 2:00PM

- Register Here by January 22nd
- Zoom Link will be sent out prior to the session
- CE's will be provided to licensed behavioral health providers